TERM 2 – Week 2

Encouraging Curiosity

Curiosity is an important disposition that we wish to foster within our students, your children. As teachers we continuously try to spark the curiosity of students and encourage their desire to learn as we know it improves their engagement.

Curiosity is something that can also be fostered at home. This is an article that suggests ways through which you can encourage curiosity at home.

How are you trying to foster curiosity in your children?

Kinder Teacher Visits

The children have all invited their kinder teachers to come and visit them next Monday 1st May and Wednesday 3rd May. Some kinder teachers will be coming in but others may not be available and this is a great opportunity for you to talk to your child about how they are feeling. It is important to let your child know that it is ok to feel disappointed and help them with some strategies to overcome this. Perhaps your child could write a letter to their kinder teacher to share their school experiences.

Communication Board

The communication board is located outside the Infant Hall near our entrance. It is where you can find all of the important information about what is happening; the current bulletin, any important announcements and other interesting reads. Whenever you are in the yard have a look.

Thank you

Thank you to Bronte (mum of Kira PS) for covering some books for us. Your help is greatly appreciated. This is another example of how we may ask for you to be involved in your child's learning.
