

Next Tuesday is the United Nation's World Environment Day to encourage worldwide awareness and action for the protection of our environment.

We will be running a competition to see which class has the least amount of food packaging in their lunchboxes.

Each class will be asked to audit the amount of food packaging in lunchboxes on the day and submit their results.

There will be a prize for the winning class.

Hopefully we won't need to count too much packaging as we are a nude food school!
